A picture is worth a thousand words

Sarah-Eve Images is an established business that offers a fresh, exciting approach to photography. Images are captured in a unique and dynamic style but always with a touch of femininity and elegance.

The business was established by Sarah Eve Robinson who brings her own individual flair to photography. She has an eye for the detail which will turn your photograph into an interesting and exciting representation.

After 20 years full time work in an accountancy, and more recently in property management she now works part-time. In the other 'part' of her time, combined with her love for dancing and sewing, she developed a passion for photography and always carries out her work with professionalism.

With a speciality in newborn photography, Sarah believes that each little one has its own personality no matter how tiny, and so does their family.

Sarah tries to capture this in her portraits, capturing emotions, personalities and those quirky little details that parents love.

Somehow the creativity of sewing matches perfectly with newborn photography and encourages Sarah to make her own headbands and props on occasion.

With a cozy little studio set up in her home, Sarah hopes you can be nice and comfortable for your unique photoshoot. She also provides a mobile service if this is something you prefer.

It is a fact of life that whatever we are looking at, it is always the picture which first captures our attention and if there is sufficient interest, we will then read the detail.

Having enrolled on a post-graduate diploma photography course with the British Academy of Photographers where she learned her photography basics, she continues to supplement her learning by attending practical workshops with an award winning photographer, Sarah is willing to push herself and widen her experience.

Using the latest digital technology, Sarah not only specialises in newborn photography, she also offers fun photography, informal portraits, events photography and elegant wedding photography.

The high quality of the work carried out by Sarah makes her very much in demand, but she will always find the time to discuss what you require and will go out of her way to satisfy your needs.

When you first contact Sarah-Eve Images, Sarah will listen to your wishes and then guide you as to the best way to achieve these. You can expect her to be with you every inch of the way.
